Christy's Birthday Party

Christy had a birthday party. She asked for one big strawberry cake from her parents because she loved strawberries.

Christy invited many of her friends. Her friends liked party plates and party hats. She put those on two large tables.

What about the topic of the party? Christy thought and thought, and then she picked a party topic: Goldilocks and the Three Bears. Everyone should bring a bear to the party.

Then, Christy chose four kinds of drinks: milk, lemonade, orange juice, and apple juice. She liked apple juice very much.

A good party should have good food, so Christy used five big bowls. There were popcorns, cookies, candies, grapes, and bananas.

On the day of the party, Christy's friends all came with a bear. They played six funny games. Pin the Tail on the Bear was Christy's favorite game.

Christy's mom gave the kids balloons of seven different colors. Christy and her friends had a lot of fun blowing up those balloons.

It was Christy's eight-year-old birthday. So, eight candles were on the big strawberry birthday cake. Every kid had a piece of cake. Yummy! They all loved the sweet strawberry cake.

Nine kids came to the party. But guess what? Christy got ten birthday gifts because one was from her parents. They had a great time at the party. It was a perfect birthday party. Christy was very, very happy.
